PEOPLE POWER FORCES DEBATE

Date set for Didcot Wave meeting

A PETITION to save the Didcot Wave from closure is the first to ever be debated at a full South Oxfordshire District Council (SODC) meeting, it has been confirmed.

The campaign, led by town councillors Des Healy and John Moody, has triggered a debate at SODC after the petition, which was handed in on August 8, contained more than 1,500 signatures from local residents, a figure which now stands at over 2,000.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Councillors will make a decision on October 24 and Ann Ducker, leader of SODC, confirmed that it is the first petition to trigger a debate at the district council.

"It certainly is something that I've never had here," Cllr Ducker said.

It's time to end this child sex abuse - MP

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A CAMPAIGN calling for new child sexual abuse prevention orders has been launched by an Oxford MP this week in order to prevent thousands of children being exploited.

Nicola Blackwood, MP for Oxford West and Abingdon, launched the Childhood Lost campaign on Tuesday to prevent vulnerable children every year being cynically targeted, groomed and sexually exploited.

The campaign is a response to the Oxford child sex ring case where seven men - Anjum Dogar, Akhtar Dogar, Assad Hussain, Mohammed Karrar, Bassam Karrar, Kamar Jamil and Zeeshan Ahmed - were sentenced for a total of 95 years in June.

Ms Blackwood said: "As an Oxford MP, I have seen for myself the appalling devastation caused by child sexual exploitation.

"Victims were not only targeted by abusers but also failed by those supposed to protect them. That must end now.

"And yet the evidence is clear, the current prevention orders do not give police the tools they need to prevent child sexual abuse. The law is still failing victims."

In 2012-13 there were 18,915 sexual crimes against children and Childhood Lost is petitioning the Prime Minister to implement six steps to stop exploitation.

Step one is to introduce new child sexual abuse prevention orders to give police the power to prevent sex offenders abusing children with the next step being to make sure that local areas set up a specialist child sexual exploitation centre, needed to identify and protect victims.

The campaign is also calling to give judges clear guidance on sentencing child sexual exploitation cases and reform courts so that vulnerable witnesses are no longer traumatised by giving evidence.

Other steps are to give the Education Secretary the power to order the publication of Serious Case Reviews and to end the postcode lottery of support for victims of child sexual exploitation.

The campaign is supported by the NSPCC, Barnardo's, The Children's Society, PACE (Parents Against Child Sexual Exploitation), Save the Children, ECPAT and OXCAT.

Peter Wanless, chief executive of the NSPCC, said: "For too long people who have been the victim of child sexual abuse have been let down by the system.

"I hope the Childhood Lost campaign will help them secure the justice they deserve."

Gill Gibbons, chief executive of PACE, added: "The true cost of sexual exploitation should not be underestimated. So many families across the country are devastated by this horrific criminal activity and live with its consequences forever."

A spokesperson from OXCAT commented: "The exploitation of children, women and men in our communities can be stopped if we all open our eyes.

"Together we must ensure we do not lose any more innocent lives to child sex offenders and gangs of traffickers."

Unprovoked city attack

POLICE are appealing for information after a man was attacked in Oxford in the early hours of Saturday morning.

The 32-year-old victim was walking along Queen Street in the city centre, near the Crabtree and Evelyn shop, when he was approached by another man he did not know.

The man headbutted him and knocked him to the floor. He then punched and kicked him while he lay on the ground, before fleeing the scene.

The victim was left with blood pouring from his forehead, and marks on his face and back.

If you have information, contact PC Simon Gray from Oxford police station on non-emergency contact 101.

Alternatively, contact Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Appeal after car thefts

A SERIES of car thefts across Oxford have prompted police to appeal for any information from potential witnesses in the area.

Four cars were targeted in Blackbird Leys and Littlemore over the space of two days last week (August 22 to 24).

In each case, tools were stolen from the vehicles.

DS Bill Sykes, from Oxford police station, said: "Since the beginning of August there have been a number of thefts from motor vehicles across the Oxford area which have involved the theft of various types of tools.

"The value of these thefts can run into thousands of pounds due to the expensive nature of some of the tools involved.

"The impact of these thefts on the victims can be financially large both in replacing stolen tools and due to the inability to work."

Artist Patrick turns his talent to power station

A SEMI-PROFESSIONAL artist is making the most of having Didcot A Power Station as part of the Oxfordshire landscape for as long as he can.

Patrick Cannon, 40, who was brought up in Milton, has produced a series of landscape oil paintings including the power station to help spark conversations and intrigue.

He says he has always been a fan of the power station but his family's association with the cooling towers mean they are even closer to his heart than at first glance.

His grandfather, George Cannon, now aged 99, used to farm the land before the power station was built, and later won contracts to help supply materials to build the cooling towers through his haulage company Cannons of Milton, with his sons Phillip and John. Cannons of Milton continued to work with RWE by transporting fly ash from the power station around the country, for it to be made into concrete blocks and to build roads, as well as the Rolls Royce engines that drove the turbines.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Patrick has now been continuing the association with the power station by creating intrigue and conversation through his artwork, painting the site from locations such as Blewbury and Wittenham Clumps.

He said: "I used to be able to see the power station from my bedroom window as a boy and I was always fascinated by the size of them.

"I could see them in all the seasons, and the colours and the weather and I've always enjoyed them so to hear that they are being actually decommissioned was always a starting point for me to start painting them before they get knocked down."

Patrick, who now lives in Wapping and is a designer, recently sold one of his power station paintings, entitled 'Didcot Power Station spring sunrise mist', for £500 and he says that he enjoys listening to the conversations that his pieces create.

"I've exhibited them at the Oxford Art Fair and the feedback from the public was beyond my expectations," he said.

"People loved the paintings along with the stories, everyone seemed to relate to them and all had a connection and their own story to go with it and all had an opinion on what should happen to them next.

"So encouraged through my family and living amongst the towers' shadows I wanted my paintings to be generous in colour and expression, I want to engage the viewer!"

Film club membership

DIDCOT Film Club's founder says he wants to build a community of cinema fans after a successful first year.

David Rouane, a Northbourne Ward town councillor, started Didcot Film Club, based at Cornerstone, in response to the Cineworld in the Orchard Centre not showing enough art house films.

The club celebrated its first anniversary earlier this year and currently has 148 members, with its youngest member being 16 and oldest in her eighties.

Despite making a small surplus in the first year, Mr Rouane said it would be beneficial to have more members.

Membership is £5 and film tickets also cost £5. Didcot Film Club runs monthly and the next film is Babette's Fest on September 4 at 8pm.

Election

A TOWN councillor has been told that her position will become vacant after she did not attend council meetings.

Jane Murphy, who was a councillor on the All Saints Ward, was told by the town clerk that because she did not attend one council meeting in the last six months the vacancy would be activated by default.

Notice of the vacancy has been given and is expected to be filled by election.

People Power forces Didcot Wave meeting

• From front page

"I think maybe people haven't realised they can have such petitions.

"We've had people come to discuss many issues but we haven't had a petition. We've had the public take as much interest in issues but not through the process of using a petition."

Cllr Healy started the campaign in response to a draft sport and leisure study for Didcot which recommended replacing the Wave with a new centre in the north east of the town as part of a 2,030 home neighbourhood.

A decision has yet to be made but Park Ward councillor at SODC Eleanor Hards believes the town can support two facilities.

"It will be quite possible for the second one to be designed in such a way that it is not competing with the Wave because it is providing something different," said Cllr Hards.

She also raised concerns about the impact on the road networks, as a result of having one facility in the north east of the town, but Cllr Ducker said: "People come now to the Wave from the Ladygrove so they have to cross over the railway to travel. I think people are already travelling. How else do those people who live at the Ladygrove at the moment get to the Wave?"

Cllr Ducker added that she has not been surprised by the support for the petition calling it "a very highly emotive subject".

At the meeting, Cllr Healy will have five minutes to present the petition before it will be discussed by SODC councillors for a maximum of 15 minutes.

Cllr Healy said: "The result of this tremendously public supported petition has only ever been about saving and preserving a very popular and accessible family community facility which is much loved. Nothing more and nothing less."

The Park Ward town councillor added: "Signatures are still coming in.

"Any that come in will still be handed on. Who are I or John to say you missed the date? It won't be heard until October 24 so why should we refuse someone's voice."

Wallingford considers pop-up shops proposal

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

WALLINGFORD could be set for pop-up shops as council officials look to resolve the growing number of empty premises in the town centre.

Fears have been growing about the footfall in Wallingford and some shop owners have raised concerns about the impact the impending Morrisons superstore on the Hithercroft Industrial Estate could have on the town centre.

Bernard Stone, mayor of Wallingford, said pop-up shops are something the town is keen on having.

"We're enthusiastic about it as a town council," Cllr Stone said. "The town clerk (Jamie Baskeyfield) is just pursuing how we best address it and we've got to do a bit of fact finding about how the scheme works. He is working with our market town coordinator at SODC.

"If somebody can prove themselves and give themselves confidence that they are doing something that is viable then the pop-up arrangement hopefully progresses on to a longer term solution for that unit.

"The town council has agreed their support in principle to it and we're now in the process of trying to make it happen."

Cllr Stone added: "We've been looking at examples in other towns and that is one of the reasons why we want to try and make it work in Wallingford.

"We've got an increasing number of empty shop units. We're perhaps not as badly hit as some towns but nevertheless we still want to address it."

Wantage, in particular, has made full use of the pop-up shop scheme with town team co-ordinators Iain Nicholson and Mim Norvell leading the charge on encouraging more local businesses into the town to help boost trade and fill empty premises.

Wallingford's market town coordinator at South Oxfordshire District Council, Kate Raynor, said that she will be looking at the benefits of pop-up shops in other towns such as Wantage.

Meanwhile SODC and Wallingford Town Council are also working on a shop front improvements scheme and Mr Baskeyfield confirmed that an announcement will be made shortly.

THIS weekend's Headington 5 is no ordinary race as it also marks the 25th anniversary of one of Oxford's running clubs.

Headington Road Runners will celebrate their 25th birthday this Sunday in an open five mile road race.

The race starts at 9.30am at Oxsrad in Marston, an integrated sports and leisure centre, which is where the Headington Road Runners are based.

All profits will go to Oxsrad which caters for the able and disabled, young and old, and relies exclusively on voluntary donations.

Today is the last day that you can enter online to take part in the race but entries will be accepted on the day up to one hour before the start time.

The Headington Road Runners are hoping to make the race an annual event.

To enter online, visit hrr.org.uk/h5m.

Gems stolen

OFFENDERS stole several items of jewellery from a house in Idbury, Chipping Norton, on August 23.

Between 9.45am and 4.30pm, the burglars gained entry through a rear conservatory door and took a silver thimble, Victorian diamond and sapphire engagement ring, yellow gold wedding ring and a heart shaped locket with a lock of hair inside.

If you have any information, contact PC Lorna Briggs on 101.

Workshop fire

A SINGLE storey workshop containing an acetylene cylinder was ablaze at a farm on Station Road, Milcombe on August 20.

Firefighters attended the scene at 11.32am and, alongside the police, evacuated the area and cordoned off Station Road before extinguishing the fire.

The cause of the fire is currently being investigated.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Josh Florey feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and Josh is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truthis that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Josh a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Talking about transport problems

A CONSULTATION is now open for Headington residents to voice their opinions on transport problems in the area.

Oxfordshire County Council has started work on a study that will examine current transport problems in and around Headington, as well as potential pressures from developments in the future.

Other areas affected by the study include Marston, Barton, Risnghurst and Wood Farm.

Councillor David Nimmo Smith, Cabinet member for transport, said: "We know that people in Headington are very keen to have a say and to shape the future of transport in their community.

"There's a range of ways in which people can make their views known, make suggestions and play their part."

Officers will be on hand at the Headington Farmers' Market on Friday September 13 to receive people's comments.

Visit the county council's website to take part in the consultation, or email lts.team@oxfordshire.gov.uk for more information.

The consultation will close on September 27.

Are your children safe from risk of measles?

Children turn out for some play day fun

CHILDREN from West Oxfordshire villages were invited for a 'playday' as they took part in a range of sports and games at the Oxford Downs Cricket Club in Standlake.

It was organised as part of the national Playday scheme earlier this month, with play equipment, toys and refreshments on offer to the enthusiastic youngsters.

Debbie List was one of the mothers who brought along her children.

She said: "It's fantastic that facilities that enable children to play in a safe and controlled outdoor environment are increasingly becoming available.

"Playday is a great concept and I expect many thousands of other children had an equally enjoyable day.

"We never had anything like this when I was growing up."

It was set up by Oxfordshire-based company Smooga, and organiser Keith Place said: "Even though we're in a quiet village we still had a constant stream of children coming along to have fun outdoors.

"It was a real pleasure to help so many have a great day by providing a place that they could just drop-in and use."

PARENTS and guardians across the county are being encouraged to make sure their children are protected against measles ahead of the new school term starting next week.

Oxfordshire County Council's public health team are hoping to ensure as many children are vaccinated as possible, after a recent rise in measles cases nationally.

The number of cases locally has remained low, with only one instance reported in the first six months of the year, and just six in the whole of 2012.

But over the summer months, children who have not been completely immunised risk being exposed to the measles virus, due to people moving around the country on their holidays.

This could mean the virus is picked up elsewhere and taken back to school.

Cllr Hilary Hibbert-Biles, council cabinet member for public health, said: "In Oxfordshire, figures for cases have remained very low, however there have been well-documented outbreaks elsewhere in the country.

"We want to make sure that children in the county have the best protection possible and the best way to do this is to have both doses of the MMR vaccination.

"Most children receive the first dose when they are two and then the second before they are five, but it is never too late to be vaccinated.

"Obviously during the holidays children and young people move around a lot and are therefore more at risk of catching the virus.

"To be protected, children need both doses of the vaccine and this can easily be done at your GP practice.

"It is a good idea to get your child fully immunised before they go back to school to help stop others potentially catching measles."

Symptoms of measles can include fever, cough, red eyes and a blocked nose, with a blotchy rash appearing on the face and spreads to the rest of the body over several days.

People are usually infectious from the day before the first symptom shows to around four or five days after the first appearance of the rash.

White Horse Show bucks wet weather and raises £20,000

A 42nd consecutive White Horse Show saw people flock to the village of Uffington over the August Bank Holiday weekend.

The rain on Sunday may have put a few people off but Monday was a different story with the showground bathed in glorious sunshine.

Around 7,000 people came to this year's show and early indications from the organisers suggest that it may have raised more than £20,000 for the White Horse Show Trust, which supports local charities and community organisations.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The Battle of Britain Memorial Flight was the highlight of the weekend for many of the visitors with displays by a Hurricane, Spitfire and the only Lancaster still flying in Europe.

Other events consisted of Amanda Saville's Chariots of Fire Display in which she drove a carriage and horses over flaming ramps and between burning poles while Jason Smyth wowed the crowd with his stunts on a motorbike and quadbike.

Jonathan Marshall's Falconry and Elaine Hill's entertaining sheepdogs and geese were also among the events.

A Fun Dog Show also proved to be popular, with craft stalls, animals and historic vehicles.

Planning will start soon for next year's August Bank Holiday Show, and more information can be found over the coming weeks on their website: www.whitehorseshow.co.uk.

MP's Corner

Ed Vaizey

MP for Wantage and Didcot

SEVERAL years ago, when Wallingford was celebrating the 850th anniversary of its Charter being granted by Henry II, I joined the Anthony Nolan Bone Marrow Donor Register. A recent piece of news caught my eye and I thought I should use the opportunity of writing this column to make more people aware of how they too can help.

There are many reasons why a particular donor may be chosen for a patient, but male donors are overwhelmingly chosen to donate by transplant centres as many doctors believe that they give patients the best possible outcomes, yet young men currently account for just 12 per cent of the Anthony Nolan bone marrow register. Some transplant doctors believe that as patients are less likely to develop post-transplant complications such as chronic Graft versus Host Disease (GvHD) if they have a young male donor, this is a better choice, as younger men are generally fitter and healthier. The Anthony Nolan Register is looking for young men aged 16 – 30 to sign up for the register through their website. It's easy to do (I did it!) and painless as all you need to provide is a small saliva sample. That's progress – when I signed up it was a syringe-full of blood!

Getting on the register is easy, and doesn't commit you to anything. If you are selected as a potential donor, you'll be talked through all the pros and cons before you get to the point of donating. But it could be a chance to save a life, and how many of us get that?

Please do think about it, and visit #arealman or www.anthonynolan.org and see for yourself what you might achieve.

Salon blaze

FIREFIGHTERS battled for hours against a blaze in a hairdressers in Oxford on Monday morning.

Specialist fire crews from Rewley Road, Slade and Eynsham fire stations fought the flames at the Toni and Guy salon on George Street after being called out at 4.05am earlier this week.

No-one was injured in the fire, which damaged the front and inside of the premises.

Road closed

AN A34 slip road will be closed overnight tonight as repainting work is carried out on road marking.

The southbound exit slip road north of Abingdon will be shut from 10pm until 6am, with diversion routes set in place during this time.

Op is a first

SURGEONS in Oxford have carried out what is believed to be the first operation in the UK of its kind, after they replaced part of nine-year-old Oliver Kirk's skull with a ceramic implant.

Oliver had some of his skull removed in February after it became seriously infected, and had to wear a helmet for protection ever since.

Bunkfest returns tomorrow for 12th year

WALLINGFORD'S music festival is back for a 12th year tomorrow night as the town welcomes a range of folk music.

Centered on the Kinecroft, BunkFest will also expand into the town over the course of the weekend with music in many venues including the Cross Keys, where the festival began, the Dolphin, Portcullis Club, as well as the Corn Exchange and the George Hotel.

Music will begin tomorrow on the Cross Keys Garden Stage at 6pm while headline acts on the main stage will include Oysterband, ahab, Gordie McKeeman and His Rhythm Boys, The Albion Band, Tarras and Peter Knight's Gigspanner.

On Saturday the Market Place will be closed to traffic to allow free pedestrian access to popular activities including Morris Dancers, street entertainers and the street fair.

Most events will be free but tickets will be required for the boat trips, train trips, workshops and for camping.

The traditional Singing Train will run trips from 11am to 5pm on both Saturday and Sunday with musicians on every ride while there will also be Boat Trips down the river on both days, also with musicians aboard. Camping for BunkFest is at the Wallingford Sports Park with facilities equipped with showers, toilets and a licensed bar. Caravans and camper vans are welcome but must be booked in advance.

For more information and to book tickets and camping, visit www.bunkfest.co.uk.

AN Oxford park is set to be transformed after receiving £60,000 of funding, which has been secured by the City Council and Blackbird Leys Parish Council.

Spindleberry Park in Blackbird Leys will see funding spent on strengthening its links between Frys Hill Park and Spindleberry Nature Reserve.

There are also proposals to include new footpaths, a bridge, a natural play area and improvements to Northfield Brook, using the money provided by Waste Recycling Environmental Limited (WREN).

Councillor Mark Lygo, board member for parks, sports and events, said: "This is fantastic news for everyone involved in the project and local residents of Blackbird Leys.

"A huge amount of hard work has gone into securing this funding and it's great to see that work pay off.

"The improvements will make the area much more appealing for local residents and we hope to see more people getting active in the park.

"We are doing a huge amount of work on improving open spaces and other facilities in the area, including on-going improvements to Blackbird Leys Park which has recently been awarded Green Flag status."

A 'green partnership' of groups interested in the future of the park has been formed, including the Leys Housing Consortium, local schools, colleges, youth clubs, wildlife and volunteer groups.

Gordon Roper, chairman of Blackbird Leys Parish Council, said: "This is brilliant news for the estate.

"The park will become a huge asset for children from local schools and families to see nature at its best."

Environmental charity Groundwork South was commissioned earlier in the year to consult with the local community on the future of Spindleberry Park.

"We're delighted that WREN has awarded the grant to this project," said Rob Tilley from Groundwork. We'll be able to help improve access and implement a range of environmental improvements, benefiting the local community and helping protect the environment."

Work is scheduled to start in the autumn.

IMPROVING HOMES AND PROPERTIES OVER THREE DECADES

Cracking down on anti-social behaviour

THAMES Valley Police, working in partnership with Cherwell District Council, have been tackling anti-social behaviour complaints on Friday and Saturday nights during the summer as part of a new scheme.

Operation Jazz seeks to address disorder, noise and criminal damage associated with unsupervised house parties over the summer holiday period.

These are often hosted by youngsters, and then advertised via social media networks.

Inspector Claire Storry said: "One of the major concerns at these underage parties is that youngsters drink excessively, which tends to result in anti-social behaviour. These young people become vulnerable, as they are not in a fit state to travel home and pose dangerous risks to their personal safety.

"Therefore, they could be potentially at a risk of becoming a victim of crime or even be provoked to commit crimes.

"Early intelligence is vital in helping us to intervene before these parties escalate into disorderly behaviour.

"We would like to encourage local residents to be vigilant and report any disturbances and large congregations of young people to the police immediately via the 101 number."

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Police officers and the council's Environmental Health team have been patrolling the local area, serving noise abatement notices if required.

The council is also reminding parents and tenants that they will make landlords and housing associations aware of such parties, as anti-social behaviour will breach tenancy agreements.

During Operation Jazz, the team have come across some reoccurring issues such as unsupervised youths and loud, alcohol fuelled underage house parties. These parties result in the risk of anti-social behaviour, criminal damage to others property and general nuisance to local residents.

PC Deborah Clements, Cherwell anti-social behaviour officer, said: "We need to highlight the problems that arise when advertising such social gatherings via social media and leaving youngsters alone without a supervised adult being present, to keep an eye on these parties."

Volunteer models on catwalk

• Models at last year's Oxford Fashion Week (Picture by Claire Williams)

VOLUNTEER models will be taking to the catwalk this week, as the Dress Up Live-Friday event at the Ashmolean Museum invites visitors to dress up and discover styles from throughout history and around the world.

Two of the models chosen at the casting session last week were Anna Samoilenka and Jessica Adams, with Anna walking the runway tomorrow evening and Jessica taking part in the Style Blogger Showcase.

As well as tomorrow's runway show, visitors will also have the chance to view the museum's collection and enjoy contemporary fashion through style presentations, photoshoots, talks and workshops.

Face of Oxford Fashion Week, Tiffany Saunders, said: "It's really interesting, we've got lots of different things going on at the same time."

Style scouts will be highlighting the nine most inspired dressers at Dress Up Live-Friday, and are asking for nominations to be made to their Facebook page ready for tomorrow's event.

Councillor's Column

Cllr Bob Price
Leader of Oxford City Council

Seal of sell-off disapproval

THE GOVERNMENT'S proposal to sell off the Royal Mail is set to become yet another step in the crazy dismantling of core public services which has placed most of our energy suppliers in the hands of overseas investors, and, in the case of the railways, created a money making machine for the private sector that is reliant on tens of billions of hidden taxpayer subsidies and which has the highest prices in Europe.

The reasons that are being put forward for Royal Mail privatisation are weak to the point of dishonesty. Is it a financial basket case that can only be rescued by new management? Actually no. The operating profit for last year was £403million. Is it struggling with accumulated financial burdens from the past? Actually no.

The government took over the Royal Mail's pension liabilities last year so we, the country's taxpayers are now paying for the deficit. This grand gesture by the Tory/Lib Dem Coalition at our expense of course allows private owners to coin in bigger profits in future. Is the Royal Mail unable to get the amount of investment that it needs to keep up with the changing face of communications in the 21st century? Actually no.

Government borrowing is substantially cheaper than private borrowing , and Network Rail, as a similar public body, has borrowed vast amounts of money on the private market to keep the borrowing off the Government's balance sheet. Will the sell-off bring untold riches into the Treasury to help reduce the still increasing State deficit? Actually no.

Best estimates are for a net receipt of £2 to £3billion – a once and for ever gain, with the family silver gone for ever.

The likely outcome from this example of political ideology winning out over common sense and public opinion is pretty clear from what has happened in other privatisations here and elsewhere in Europe.

The banks that are running the privatisation (Goldman Sachs, UBS etc – the ones that plunged the world into the banking crisis) will make fat profits out of the exercise. Privatising Her Majesty's head will be deeply unpopular, will remove a crucial amenity from many communities and will impact on the significant heritage of Royal Mail.

A hit film? Do the maths, say research boffins

A NEW maths equation can determine the success of films a month before they are released in cinemas, according to Oxford University researchers.

The study analysed the Wikipedia page activity of 312 American films released in 2009 and 2010.

It took into account the number of page views, amount of contributors, the type of online user and the number of edits made to the article.

The model, applied retrospectively, allowed the researchers to chart the online buzz on Wikipedia around particular films, and compared this with the box office takings from the first weekend after release.

The comparison between the predicted opening weekend revenue, using their mathematical model, and the actual figures (published in Internet Movie Database [IMDb]) showed a high degree of correlation.

The study, which was carried out with researchers from Central European University of Budapest, allowed researchers to predict revenues with an overall 77 per cent accuracy rate.

Dr Taha Yasseri, from the Oxford Internet Institute at the University of Oxford, said: "These results can be of great value to marketing firms but more importantly for us, we were able to demonstrate how we can use socially generated online data to predict a lot about future human behaviour.

By James Booker
jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"The predicting power of the Wikipedia-based model, despite its simplicity compared with Twitter, is that many of the editors of the Wikipedia pages about the movies are committed movie-goers who gather and edit relevant material well before the release date.

"By contrast, the "mass" production of tweets occurs very close to the release time, and often these can be spun by marketing agencies rather than reflecting the feelings of the public."

The more successful the film, the more accurately researchers were able to predict box office takings.

This is possibly due to the increased amount of online data generated by films that turn out to be successes.

The model correctly predicted the commercial success of Iron Man 2, Alice in Wonderland, Toy Story 3 and Inception, but failed to accurately forecast the less successful movies Never Let Me Go and Animal Kingdom.

It has not been applied yet to films that are not on release.

GCSE students are praised

OXFORDSHIRE County Council's cabinet member for Children, Education and Families has praised this year's GCSE students for their hard work.

Thousands of teenagers across the county received their exam results last Thursday and early indications from the council show that around 60 per cent of students in Oxfordshire achieved five A*-C grades including English and Maths.

Although the figure will not be confirmed until later this year, it represents an improvement on last year's figure of 57.9 per cent.

Cllr Melinda Tilley said: "The results mark the end of years of hard work for students and teachers alike, and as always, I'd like to congratulate them and pay tribute to their dedication.

"The role of parents in supporting students through their exams should also be recognised.

"At a national level, much is already being made of the proportion of top grades apparently falling for the second year running."

For anyone who did not receive the results they were hoping for, help can be found on the Oxcentric website and through the National Careers Service on 0800 100 900.

Commuters clock up 100,000 travel miles

OXFORD'S commuters clocked up over 100,000 miles as part of a Travel Challenge earlier this summer.

Over 1,000 people registered 132,500 miles travelling to and from work by alternative means than driving.

Oxfam won the Oxfordshire Travel Challenge in July, by having the highest proportion of staff of any company to take part.

Jane Cotton, Oxfam's HR Director said: "Winning this fantastic challenge is a sign of how committed our staff are to sustainable modes of transport. Our commuters include car sharers, bus and train users, walkers and even one runner.

"But by far the most popular method of transport is cycling. Our cyclists saved an impressive 2,981kg of CO2 during the duration of the challenge.

"Oxfam aims to provide the best facilities for cyclists at Oxfam House, as well as working with local organisations such as Cyclox to improve the cycle infrastructure in and around Oxford."

The three-week challenge was organised by Oxfordshire Sports Partnership.

Hazel Walsh from Oxfordshire Sports Partnership, said "The 2013 Travel Challenge was a great success and showed people there are many ways of travelling for work.

"Although it often feels easier and quicker to jump in the car other methods can be more relaxing, cheaper and more sociable.

"I tried cycling in during the challenge and I'm definitely a convert - I felt so much healthier as a result and saved all the petrol money."

Lianne celebrates with her Ready Teddy Go!

Business Matters

Guest columnist Stuart Miller

Entrepreneurs and all that jazz!

IN this month's guest column, Stuart Miller, co-founder and CEO of Oxfordshire-based company ByBox, on the importance of entrepreneurs.

THERE are lots of reasons why people start companies. For young people, there is the appeal of rebellion and the opportunity for eye-popping wealth. For middle-aged middle-managers, there is the chance to escape the humdrum of corporate life and inject some sparkle (and risk) into the future. And for the silver-haired ex-executives, there is the lure of a final swan song before retirement finally grips.

While the reasons may be personal and subjective, one thing is categorically true: the recovery of the UK economy depends largely on people taking the plunge and starting enterprises. So unsurprisingly, there is plenty of support for people who commit to becoming entrepreneurs. Further Education colleges weave 'enterprise' throughout their curriculum. Higher Education establishments have 'Entrepreneurs in Residence' and 'Incubation Labs'. More recently, Lord Young (the Prime Minister's special advisor on small business and enterprise) launched an initiative to connect business schools with start-ups. And so on.

Ultimately, entrepreneurs are similar to jazz musicians. Both are rebellious, disruptive and super creative.

And what is true for jazz is true for entrepreneurship: you can't teach it, but you can learn it.

AN Oxfordshire businesswoman is gearing up to celebrate a double business birthday, surrounded by teddies and other cuddly toys!

It's a year since 29-year old Lianne Fisher (pictured) launched her personalised teddy business Ready Teddy Go online, and six years since she started the web-based gifts company www.allthingsgifts.co.uk.

From her office and workshop base on the Jennings-run Monument Park, Chalgrove, Lianne started in business in September 2007 with a range of gifts, gadgets and toys for sale.

Strong interest in a range of teddy bears she sold as part of All Things Gifts sparked the idea of launching a specialist service in that market, which became Ready Teddy Go, www.readyteddygo.co.uk.

Having invested £10,000 in a state-of-the-art 15-needle industrial embroidery machine, Lianne started to personalise teddies and a range of other cuddly toys.

This included pandas and penguins, with their hoodies featuring customer-chosen messages in embroidered stitches.

• Businesswoman Lianne Fisher with her cuddly toys

The clothes are made to order for every occasion from newborn to birthdays, Valentine's Day to Christmas, and even 'get well soon'.

Lianne has designed all the items herself and they're fully tested to comply to CE and EN71 safety standards.

She said: "It's been an exciting challenge as a solo business person, starting a business in a very competitive online market not once, but twice now.

"We're getting really positive feedback from customers on the bears and cuddly toy range, and people seem to love the idea of being able to have the hoodies embroidered in top quality stitching with whatever special occasion messages they choose."

Time to vote

THERE'S just a day left to nominate a local business, group or organisation in Didcot for this year's Business and Community Awards (BACAs).

Anyone can nominate any group or business for an award under the categories: Youth, Science & Innovation, Entrepreneurship and Enterprise, Delivering Added Value, Community Involvement and Customer Service.

All nominations must be in to organisers, Didcot First, by Friday, September 6 via www.didcotfirst.org.uk.

Didcot-born comedian, Matt Richardson, who's the new co-host of ITV X Factor's spin-off show, Xtra Factor, will present the Youth Award in a pre-recorded item shown during the Awards' Gala Evening.

Cheers to Party Seven!

OXFORD'S Original Rabbit Foot Spasm Band have celebrated the release of their latest album 'Party Seven' with a secret gig held at The Big Bang in the Oxford Castle Quarter.

'Party Seven' features 12 bold and brassy R&B cuts, including festival favourites 'King of Wine', 'Birdman of Barley Mow' and 'Eynsham Witches'.

The group are renowned for their energetic and enthusiastic performances, and last Monday's secret show was as raucous and entertaining as ever.

"People call us jazz but really we're a rock and roll rhythm section with a brass section over the top," said Stuart Macbeth, singer and pianist with the group.

"It's a strange mixture of styles. We kind of bang it out, thrash it out, which is why we go down well at festivals.

"It's been two and a half years since we put the last album out, so I wrote the songs, and then we probably got it together in a couple of months.

"We recorded it live over two days here in Oxford, so we finished it about six months ago."

The band has been together for seven years, originally using home-made instruments as a proper three-piece spasm band playing jazz and skiffle.

Stuart added: "I was really interested in live old-style jazz and blues, and there was no-one around Oxfordshire doing that kind of music, so we thought we'd do it ourselves.

"We get a great reaction, a very lively reaction. Whereas you might expect with a jazz-type band people snapping their fingers and tapping their toes, we get people trying to stage dive us."

Trumpeter Martin Martello said: "We've got all the style of an old time New Orleans band, but you don't have to pretend you're from the 1950s to enjoy what we do.

"We've found that if you stick what's essentially a Dixieland brass section through a banging 21st century soundsystem, people are going to go bananas!

"We've seen people just lose control of themselves to our music."

The Three Musketeers - but not as we know it!

A BRAND-NEW comedy musical is coming to the Oxford Playhouse on Monday, as the award-winning Barbershopera theatre group stage their new production of The Three Musketeers.

Re-inventing Alexandre Dumas' classic novel, the show is a fast-paced journey through the swashbuckling adventure, re-told through a four-part capella harmony.

The story follows Nicole d'Artagnan as she heads to Paris to obtain the help of the King's Musketeers.

But the three heroes she encounters are not what she was expecting, and together they must defeat the villainous Cardinal Rich Tea in time for the King's birthday ball.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Barbershopera use their unique and hilarious story-telling style to document the epic story, with a cast of four talented singers who use innovative lyrics and slapstick to tell the tale.

The comedy barbershop quartet features four musicians, and the group have been performing together since 2007 to audiences across the country.

Their first show, the eponymous 'Barbersopera!', was adapted into a play for BBC Radio Four.

Tickets for Barbershopera's The Three Musketeers at Oxford Playhouse are £16 and are available from the Ticket Office on 01865 305305 or book online at www.oxfordplayhouse.com.

Do you fancy giving Lindy Hop a try?

LOCAL dance group the Oxford Lindy Hoppers are encouraging people to come along and give Lindy Hop dancing a try at classes based around the city.

Lindy Hop is an African-American jazz dance that originated in Harlem, New York, in the 1920s and '30s, and was danced to swing music. It gained worldwide recognition after being featured in several Hollywood films, but only came over to the UK in the 1940s through American soldiers.

The Oxford Lindy Hoppers run lessons and dances for anyone to take part in, as well as workshops to help people develop their skills and techniques.

Helen Gavin, co-founder and teacher at the group, said: "We're a not-for-profit social-run group in Oxford to promote swing dancing. Anybody can swing dance, from young to old, and it's such a fun and exciting dance that brings joy to anyone who does it."

Visit www.oxfordlindyhoppers.co.uk or find the group on Facebook.

BunkFest

BunkFest - it's back and it's bigger and better than ever!

WITH 12 years under it's belt Wallingford's Bunkfest continues to improve with even more venues being added around the town.

All the old favourites are still there of course. Things kick off on Friday evening on the Cross Keys Garden Stage at 6pm. . This year the Cross Keys will feature everything from dance acts to Galley Beggar, Linda Watkins, The Devils Rejects and Papa Truck.

The Dolphin is another regular venue and has a full programme including Pete Fryer, The Unusual Suspects, C U Tuesday & Hippy Haze. In the garden area you'll be entertained by Rik Knight and Carl Komuro, both of whom play many other venues over the weekend.

The upstairs room at the Portcullis Club opens its doors and bar to BunkFest all weekend with late night spots on both Friday and Saturday. Friday evening sees Hipbone Slim & the 9 Ton Peanut Smugglers followed by the Rough & Ready Boys. Saturday evening has Will Tun and the Wasters followed by the Unusual Suspects. On Sunday, you can finish the festival weekend here with Dolly & The Clothes Pegs.

Other pubs who regularly host music are the Coachmakers Arms and the Green Tree, both down the south end of town. Amongst those appearing here are Warden Squires, Cliodhna, Alistair Russell, Rik Knight, Jody Wyatt, Minnie Burch, Busker Rhymes & Kubris.

The Comrades Club joined BunkFest last year and continue this year with music Friday evening, through to Sunday afternoon. Here you can see Alhambra, The Missing Persians, George Wilson, Blackthorn & Sian Magill.

Two new pubs join BunkFest this year, both over by the river: The Boat House and the Town Arms.

The Skeptics open at the Town Arms on Friday evening, Jon Harvison & Rob Hayes on Saturday, finishing with Al Kendrick on Sunday.

The Boat House features Ramblin Minor on Friday, Paul Openshaw, Andy Robbins and Mordecia on Saturday. As a new venture for Bunkfest the Boat House features Jazz on Sunday afternoon with the Thameside Rhythm Kings from 1pm until 5pm.

Also joining this year is the Lamb Cafe, with two afternoon concerts on Saturday: Tea with Troubshort & Turnipseed followed by To The Blue.

The Corn Exchange has always hosted music in the bar during the Saturday of BunkFest. This year they have also offered the use of their main auditorium. On Friday evening, there will be a concert featuring local groups: The Band of Hope and The Occasional Orchestra. Saturday evening is an all-female concert with Sarah McQuaid from Cornwall and Said the Maiden, 3 young singers from Buckinghamshire.

The George Hotel has hosted storytelling for the last few years and this continues again this year. Sunday also sees a very special Folk Concert, a double-header featuring Blair Dunlop and Gilmore & Roberts.

Of course it wouldn't be BunkFest without the Singing Train which runs trips from 11am to 5pm on both Saturday and Sunday with musicians on every ride.

The Crown Inn

High Street, South Moreton, Oxfordshire OX11 9AG

Tel:01235 759289

www.thecrownsouthmoreton.co.uk

Re-opened in September 2012 by Claire Hollis and her family and despite the pub's patchy past it has remained opened since and is doing exceptionally well. The Crown is very pleased to be celebrating its 1 year anniversary on 14th September and will be having live music from Nikki Loy.

The Crown serves traditional pub food and is using high quality meats, supplied by Woodlands Butchers in Kidlington. We've put our heart and soul into sourcing quality British ingredients from people we trust and our chef always has some tasty specials for you to try. So if you're looking for more than a plate of the usual, take a look at our food menu on our website, we think you'll find plenty to tempt you!

There are two lovely gardens with new benches for people to enjoy the wonderful British weather! Children and dogs are very welcome here. It is the ideal spot for cyclists and walkers whilst out and about to pop in and enjoy the selection of beers, ciders, lagers, wines and spirits with a great choice of real ales from the independent Wadworth's Brewery in nearby Wiltshire.

Our friendly, old fashioned bar hasn't been spoilt by tacky wallpaper or cheap leather chairs, it is traditional and cosy with a cheery welcome for both locals and visitors alike.

We'd love for you to come and visit and see how The Crown has changed and meet our friendly staff.

Purchase 2 courses and receive a free dessert or free coffee or tea.
Terms and conditions apply. Valid until 30th September 2013.

WIN Riddick movie goodies!

IF you like your heroes on the dark and menacing side then September promises to be a great month with the return of Vin Diesel as the infamous Riddick.

At the end of Chronicles of Riddick he seemed to be the most powerful man in known space but in his new movie – simply called Riddick – we see him brought down from on high.

Having been betrayed and left for dead on a sun-scorched planet, Riddick must fight for his survival against the deadly alien predators that exist in the barren landscape.

Activating an emergency beacon doesn't bring help directly, instead teams of mercenaries arrive to fight it out as to who gets to take the galaxy's most wanted (and valuable) oulaw back to justice.

Closing date

Friday, September 13

As you might expect Riddick isn't intending to go along with this...

Written and directed by David Twohy the film reunites Diesel with Karl Urban and adds Jori Molla, Dave Bautista and Katee Sackhoff to the mix.

It all promises to be pretty eventful.

For your chance to get in on the action we have five Riddick movie logoed merchandising packs available. Each contains a vest, back-pack, torch and baseball cap.

To be in with a chance of winning one of these packs that will delight any film fan just answer this simple question:

Q: WHAT CHARACTER DID KARL URBAN PLAY IN THE MOVIE CHRONICLES OF RIDDICK?

To enter this competition...

Send your answer along with your name, address, telephone number to competitions@oxfordshireguardian.co.uk or on a postcard to Competitions, Oxfordshire Guardian, Newspaper House, 4A Hawksworth, Didcot, Oxfordshire OX11 7HR

Proposals Wedding Special

The ultimate guide to planning your big day

A whole world of weddings...

PLANNING your Big Day – you need to get yourself to the centre of Wallingford on Saturday 12th of October 2013.

Once again Wallingford businesses will be showcasing how they can assist you in the planning process for your forthcoming wedding. Numerous retailers and businesses will be on hand to discuss your requirements, from securing the correct venue to selecting the exact shade of bridesmaid's dresses. In addition to chatting to local photographers, florist, cake designers, jewellers, beauty and hair salons, through to discussing the all important Honeymoon, you will also have the opportunity to see a few fun surprises to ensure your wedding has the unique and individual feel.

Registration for the event will take place in The Town Hall from 12 Noon, were you will be offered the opportunity to view the ceremony rooms, enjoy a glass of bubbly and sample some delicious canapés. From here, take a guided walk, or simply wander around at your own leisure. With over 30 plus businesses taking part it's certain you will be able to tick items off your To Do List!

Wallingford Weddings has been developed by local retailers and business who all believe they have something unique to offer the happy couple; reliable, honest service with a personal touch. The businesses are able to work in conjunction with each other to ensure planning your wedding is an enjoyable and fun experience. They care about your wedding as much as you do, and take a pride in offering a first class service. We look forward to welcoming you to Wallingford on Saturday 12th of October, but remember, these businesses are permanently based in Wallingford and are on hand 365 days a year if you are unable to attend the event in October, simply visit the website www.wallingfordweddings.co.uk for further information.

Wedding essentials...

WHEN you consider that your wedding will be one of the most important days of your life it is no surprise that the pressure to get it right is immense. For many of us, planning our wedding will be the only time we get involved with a operation of this scale and complexity. Luckily there are many helpful companies out there who can steer you through the maze of options.

Even with their help there a few key things you need to focus on.

Plan Your Budget

If the coins in your wallet don't quite add up you might need to consult the bank (or maybe your dad's credit card?) Whether your budget is £1000 or £100,000, you can be sure that there are services out there that will suit your needs and are within budget.

Find Your Venue

We are working here on the principal that you have a rough date in mind. More often than not, unless you are planning to an exact date years in advance, the availability and choice of venue will drive the actual date of the wedding.

Get Some Insurance

Did you know that the average wedding these days costs around £21,000? Just think about the cost of wedding rings, wedding dresses, catering and the many other wedding essentials and you will soon see how much they add up to.

Select Your Rings

Now you have set a date and purchased insurance you can really start to spend. We all marry for love, but in the back of our minds aren't we also excited about what that exquisite piece of jewellery will look like on our finger?

Order The Stationery

Whilst you have probably already told everyone you know about your up and coming big day, now is the time to make it official. Your invitations need to be sent out well in advance so whilst this may be a little early to send them, you should at least begin looking at colours and designs.

The Honeymoon

Having dealt with 101 suppliers, bridesmaid issues, months of stress and trying to make the biggest day of your life perfect you will need a holiday. Your honeymoon is normally your first few weeks alone with your new partner, so it will be very exciting. Going down to your local travel agent early will avoid disappointment and make sure that you have the most relaxing holiday of your life.

Arrange The Photographer

Through out your wedding day you will experience so many wonderful moments that you will want to remember forever. By booking a good photographer/videographer you will be able to look over your favourite moments time and time again and they will be a treasure to keep forever.

Send Out Your Invitiations

If you've made use of the 'save the date' cards, most of your guests should be well aware when your wedding is and will be eagerly anticipating the invitation landing on their doormat. You should send out your invites a minimum of 8 weeks before your wedding however sooner is often better.

The Finishing Touches

Everyone's wedding is unique to them so it is difficult to put into words exactly what final touches you will need to take care of. Things to think about are seating plans, order of service, rehearsals, speeches, readings, poems, thank you gifts, first dances, music, timings, transport, children, favours, first night accommodation, return of hired outfits, thank you cards, etc...

These are just a few reminders of the key things you need to get in your mind when you start planning, but to get a more in-depth look at options we recommend you visit hitched.co.uk and study the advice can offer.

Let Cascada wash over you

REVIEW: VAUXHALL CASCADA

By Philip Shoulder

@writeonmotoring

THE Cascada is Vauxhall's first new mid-sized convertible in 70 years.

It is a full four-seat, fabric-roof convertible which at nearly 4.7 metres in length is longer than an Audi A5 Convertible and positions Vauxhall in a sector that it hasn't occupied since the 1930s.

The model is 4.7 metres in length – more than 70mm longer than Audi's A5 Convertible – with a full-size fabric roof, giving the car a classy and elegant profile, seen in the two official images. The roof can be opened or closed at the touch of a button, even when the car is moving at up to 30mph.

Cascada, a Spanish word meaning waterfall, is the third new name to be introduced by Vauxhall this year, following Mokka and ADAM, and each model is set to be incremental to the company's current line-up.

The Cascada marks Vauxhall's departure from the compact cabrio sector, with which it enjoyed much success with cars like the Astra Mk.3 Convertible and the more recent Astra Twin Top. The Cascada is a full 225mm longer than the Astra Twin Top (which was discontinued in 2010) and now targets rivals in the mid-size sector. Priced from £23,995 – nearly £8,000 less than Vauxhall's premium rival.

Vauxhall's new full-size, four-seat convertible, the Cascada, priced from £23,995 on-the-road – nearly £8,000 less than its main rival in the premium drop-top sector – when it arrives in showrooms this April.

With the Audi A5 Cabriolet firmly in its sights, the Cascada offers affordability paired with outstanding levels of equipment, technology and luxury. It comes in two trims, with the entry level SE getting 18-inch alloy wheels, a sports chassis, LED tail lamps and aux-in/USB, all as standard. The up-level Elite includes leather trim, heated front seats and steering wheel and front fog lamps.

"Cascada is set to change people's perception of Vauxhall once again," said Duncan Aldred, Vauxhall's Chairman and Managing Director. 'The full-size convertible sector tends only to be occupied by very high-priced cars from premium manufacturers. With Cascada, we're offering customers high levels of equipment, technology and luxury but at an affordable price."

VERDICT

The all-new Cascada is a full-size, four seat convertible with premium qualities and technologies at an affordable, mainstream price.

ADVERTORIAL

West Oxfordshire
Academy of Performing Arts

Where your child can excel ... whilst having fun!

For a long time, my wife Louise and I had thoughts of creating a children's stage school. Both of us have acting and music backgrounds - and our own children have followed in our footsteps.

Therefore, when I was made redundant in 2011, we embraced the opportunity to start our own academy of performing arts.

After looking at various franchise options we decided to establish our own independent theatre school.

The very knowledgeable advisors at Oxfordshire Business enterprises gave some positive, sound suggestions about legalities, branding and marketing.

Our first school filled quickly and our second school is also proving very popular. We also run a weekly adult singing group. Highlights have included a dance masterclass with Kylie Minogue's choreographer, children's holiday courses, a Bollywood session and we've recorded a CD! Our students have gained parts in professional productions as well as TV.

Our greatest reward is parents often tell us they think we're one of the best children's stage schools in the area.

Mullins is United's hero after last-gasp winner

• Johnny Mullins, unsuccessful with this effort, fired home a late equaliser against Wycombe last Saturday (Picture by Steve Daniels)

JOHNNY Mullins salvaged a late point for Oxford United to earn the U's a 2-2 draw at home to Wycombe Wanderers last Saturday.

The defender's 96th minute equaliser, the second time he has struck late this season, ensured United's status as the league leaders on goal difference as they stretched their unbeaten run to four games.

Wycombe edged the first half and deservedly took the lead just before the break through former United striker Dean Morgan.

However, the game was turned on its head when Wycombe's Charles Dunne was sent off for an elbow on Alfie Potter and United took full advantage with Danny Rose curling home the resulting free-kick on 51 minutes.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

United were not level for long though as eight minutes later Morgan converted from the spot after David Hunt needlessly brought him down in the area.

Chris Wilder's men continued to search for an equaliser and they made full use of the seven minutes of added time as the ball fell nicely for Mullins who drilled past Matt Ingram for the equaliser.

The defender told the club: "It's another performance where we've not played as well with the ball but we dug in and ultimately we're still unbeaten.

"We kept going right until the end and that's all you can ask for, we kept digging in and thankfully we got a result."

Wilder was more than pleased to see his side remain unbeaten.

"There's a few gloomy faces in the dressing room but I'm not gloomy at all because it is ten points from four games so it's a good start for us.

"It was a tough game and I think sometimes you have to give credit to the opposition.

"Their manager (Gareth Ainsworth) is a passionate guy that wants to win, as we all do, and he's got his team going again and we've had a battle on.

"We did put ourselves in a poor position with a needless penalty but we came back, we kept going right to the end.

"There was a lot of added time and rightly so because they were being professional and wanted to see the game out but we went to the end and got a point out of it."

Five wins in a row for Town

WANTAGE Town continued their impressive start to the new Hellenic Premier Division campaign, making it five wins in a row on Bank Holiday Monday.

Matt Pedder, Andy Younie and Stuart Cattell all scored for the Alfredians as they beat previously unbeaten Highworth Town 3-1, backing up their 1-0 win at Kidlington last Saturday.

Gary Ackling's side lead the way at the top of the league table on goal difference as second-placed Reading Town have also taken 15 points from their opening five games.

This weekend the Alfredians will take a break from the league but will be looking to continue their impressive form as they welcome Didcot Town, managed by former manager Andy Wallbridge, in the FA Cup preliminary round.

Oxford City Nomads have also made a good start to the season as they are only two places behind Wantage in the table. Nomads were beaten 5-0 by Reading Town last Saturday but bounced back to record a 2-0 win at bottom side Abingdon United on Monday.

Chris Fontaine's side sit third in the league table with 12 points and have the opportunity to go level on points with Wantage this weekend if they beat Abingdon Town.

Tech3's Smith raring to go

OXFORD'S MotoGP star Bradley Smith can't wait to get on the grid this weekend as he hopes for a good performance at his home grand prix.

The 22-year-old crashed out in Brno last weekend after qualifying on the second row and this Sunday will be the first time Smith has ridden a MotoGP bike at Silverstone.

Smith has had success at the Northamptonshire circuit before, finishing on the podium in the 125cc category in 2010 and in Moto2 in 2011.

"In my rookie season things like Brno can happen when you are pushing to try and learn and build experience," the Tech3 rider said. "At least I don't have to wait long for Silverstone. I'm disappointed with Brno, but highly motivated to build on the positive points we gained. Racing at home is always special but this will be my first MotoGP race at Silverstone and I can't wait."

Smith currently lies 11th in the rider standings on 59 points and will be looking to at least equal his best result of sixth at the Catalunyan and German grand prix.

Difficult weekend for Plato

• Jason Plato had a mediocre weekend at Knockhill (Picture courtesy of btcc.net)

JASON Plato endured a difficult weekend at Knockhill in round seven of the British Touring Car Championship (BTCC), as he could only manage a best result of fourth.

Race one produced his best result of the day, after qualifying fourth but losing a position to Adam Morgan who nudged his way past at the hairpin on lap 17 to leave Plato fifth on the road.

However Morgan was penalised following the end of the race for gaining an unfair advantage, which elevated Plato up a position.

In race two, Plato lost positions to Rob Collard, Matt Neal and Andrew Jordan to slip to seventh.

The Oxford-based driver had an uneventful race three after starting seventh, but Gordon Shedden's retirement and Colin Turkington's disqualification meant he finished the final race fifth.

The weekend's results mean Plato slipped further back in the BTCC standings, remaining fifth but now 54 points behind championship leader Neal.

Three rounds of the season remain, with the next taking place at Rockingham on September 15.

City lose twice in weekend of woe

OXFORD City had a Bank Holiday weekend to forget as they lost twice in three days in the new Skrill Conference North season.

Saturday was a miserable away-day for Mike Ford's men, as they went down 3-0 at high-flying Hednesford Town.

A Wayne Riley strike and a late brace from Elliott Durrell consigned City to defeat.

And they were suffering the same feeling on Monday as they entertained Brackley Town at Court Place Farm.

Despite a battling display, Steve Diggan's goal 14 minutes from time proved the difference between the sides, and ensured the Northamptonshire side left Oxford with all three points.

City are still winless in the new season, and will hope to rectify that on Saturday when they travel to West Yorkshire to face Bradford Park Avenue.

Chinnor lose

NATIONAL League 2 South outfit Chinnor completed their pre-season with a defeat at home to Tonbridge Juddians at the weekend.

Chinnor went down 27-7 against the National 3 London outfit at Kingsey Road on Saturday.

Chinnor open their new league campaign with a trip to Exmouth a week on Saturday.

10-wicket haul

TIDDINGTON bowler Sam Hollingshead had a day to remember when he claimed all 10 wickets against Wolverton Town, although he still finished on the losing side.

The 24-year-old becomes only the fifth player in the Cherwell League's history to accomplish the feat, finishing with figures of 10-65.

Wolverton were dismissed for 189, but Tiddington were then bowled out themselves for just 98 in their second division match.

Hawks ready

HENLEY Hawks have one more opportunity to get everything right ahead of their league campaign as they host London Welsh this Saturday.

The SSE National League 1 side have played two friendlies previously with a 49-15 victory over Chester on August 10 and a 12-7 loss to Bedwas last Saturday.

Hawks' opening league match is at home to Tynedale on September 7.

TOWN LOOKING FOR FIRST WIN

Railwaymen suffer narrow defeat

DIDCOT Town slipped second from bottom of the league after suffering a narrow 2-1 defeat to North Leigh at Eynsham Hall Park on Monday afternoon.

Andy Wallbridge's men were denied a win at home to Cinderford Town last weekend and a first win of the season does not look far away as they put in a decent showing against North Leigh.

The game was, in the large part, evenly balanced but the Railwaymen wilted in the final quarter of an hour and were subsequently punished with a late decisive goal.

The early stages were cagey, but as the contest reached the mid-point of the first half, the home side opened the scoring.

Jacob Walcott's centre was partially cleared to Millers' captain Wayne Turk who was lurking 20 yards out.

The red shirts were not quick enough to close him down and the ensuing strike took a wicked deflection to wrong-foot keeper Gareth Tucker and nestled into the bottom corner.

Didcot refused to be cowed by the setback and their counter-attacking style unlocked the North Leigh rearguard on more than one occasion as the half wore on.

Adam Morris's long range effort drew a decent block from Sam Warrell before both Morris and Louis Joyce got within fractions of applying finishing touches to flowing moves.

Didcot began to have the greater amount of possession and they made it count on 63 minutes.

Joyce and Taylor Janes combined down the left and the final ball picked out Michael McKirnan on the edge of the area who drilled home.

As the match wore on, effective substitutions were swinging the pendulum back in North Leigh's favour and as Didcot tired, gaps began to appear in their defence.

Former Didcot player Elliott Osborne-Ricketts was eventually felled on the edge of the area and Stuart Hole crashed the subsequent free-kick into the bottom corner.

Didcot now turn their attention to the FA Cup with a trip to Hellenic Premier Division leaders Wantage Town tomorrow night.

Mullins nets a last-gasp winner

JOHNNY Mullins was Oxford United's hero again last Saturday as his 96th minute equaliser earned the U's a 2-2 draw at home to Wycombe Wanderers.

United remain at the top of League Two as a result and will be looking to make it five games unbeaten as they host Rochdale at the Kassam Stadium this weekend.

Chris Wilder's men have taken 10 points from their opening four games and lead second placed Chesterfield on goal difference.
